Before watching the video you should also ensure that you have the four files that accompany the video:

- R Script for Video 1.R
- results.csv
- results.rds
- results.xlsx

N.B. if you are already familiar with using R, you can ignore the final section of the video and can also ignore the three 'results' files. These are intended for people who are new to R.

If you have not have used R before, download the free desktop version of R Studio at the following link, install the program, and run the R Script within R Studio:
